The buzz

Age
From 8 years

Number of players
Starting with 10

Description
A volunteer is sent outside. While this person waits outside, the players choose together an object from the room, which will be the target of this round. The leader invites the volunteer back into the room. Through the buzzing of the game, the volunteer is guided towards the target: when the buzzing is low, it means that the player is far away from the target, and when the buzzing is loud, it means that the volunteer is very close to the object set at the beginning. Once it has reached the target, all the participants have to imitate actions that can be done with this object: e.g. for the "watering can" to imitate the action of sprinkling flowers. When the volunteer names the target-object, another round can start.
