The 4 elements

Age
From 6 years

Number of players
Starting with 8

Description
Everyone except one player sits in chairs forming a circle. The person in the middle points to someone in the circle and shouts "water", "earth" or "air" and starts counting to 10. The indicated player must immediately name an animal living in that environment. If he takes too long or names an animal that does not live in that environment or one that has already been named, the person in the middle shouts "fire" loudly and runs towards a chair. At this point, all players must change seats. Whoever runs out of chairs starts the next round in the middle of the circle.
