Description
In the seating circle there is a chair for each player. One person sits in the middle and will try to conquer the free chair by sitting on it. The players try to prevent him from doing so. The player sitting on the seat to the left of the vacant seat quickly moves to it. The next players move, the free seat changing its destination during the game. If the person in the middle manages to sit on the vacant seat, the person who should have occupied it moves to the middle and must in turn conquer the vacant seat.

Variation: if the person in the middle shouts "change", then the direction of the seats changes.
