Description
The ends of the string are knotted. The players stand very close to each other and hold the string so that it takes the shape of a circle. Then they sit on the ground and hold the string with both hands. Each person now tries by pulling on the string to make the others let go of the string, fall or stand up.Whoever does not resist the sudden movements and stands up, lets go of the string or falls, is out of the game. The game continues until a winner can be determined.
