Railway in the bog: game idea

Indoor and outdoor play possible with up to 10 children

Game idea of the Jungschar FMG Wetzikon

Gameplay

The game can be played with a group of up to 10 children.

The children form a long line and each child holds onto the shoulders of the person in front of them with both hands.

All the children, except the last one, are blindfolded. This one must steer the "train" by giving direction with light (!) shoulder pressure (pressure left=train goes left; pressure right=train goes right).

To increase the difficulty you can distribute obstacles and the railroad must be guided around them.

During the game you stop the time (From start to finish). This allows the group to experience a shared sense of accomplishment when repeated.
