

Water fight with water spraying

This game is perfect for cooling off in summer. Two teams play against each other and the aim is to get the pieces of napkin on the opponent's arm wet with the help of squirts.

Game procedure:

The participants are divided into two groups. Everyone gets a piece of napkin attached to their upper arm with a rubber band. Everyone also gets at least one water sprayer. The aim is to splash the opponents' napkins.

Each team has a kettle of water where the syringes can be refilled. If a napkin is wet, the participant must come to the middle of the game and get a new napkin.

The team that has used the fewest napkins at the end is the winner.

Afterwards, we recommend leaving out the syringes and having a real water fight (without rules) - then you are sure to get really wet :)

Material:

- Water syringe
(disposable syringes approx. 20-50ml from the pharmacy are best)
- Cut napkins into pieces
- Rubber bands
- filled kettle
